Peter Powlison, a Punahou School trustee who set several world masters swimming records, died Friday night after swimming in a meet at Duke Kahanamoku Pool at the University of Hawaii.

Mr. Powlison, 65, had just set a Hawaiian masters record in the 800-meter freestyle when he collapsed, according to his son, Dan.

Mr. Powlison, who had a history of heart problems, could not be revived. The cause of death has not been determined.

Mr. Powlison won five gold medals and set records in four events at the World Masters Swimming Championships in Tokyo last July. After the meet, he said: "It's wonderful at 64 to have a high point."

Mr. Powlison was born in Smyrna, Turkey. He moved to Honolulu with his parents when he was 2. He swam competitively during high school and college and was named to several All-America teams while at Punahou and the University of Washington.

He was a finalist in the Olympic trials in 1948, but his career was put on hold while he served in the Marine Corps during World War II.

After the war, Mr. Powlison taught social studies at Punahou for 32 years, retiring in 1981. He began swimming again in 1979 after undergoing open-heart surgery and eventually was convinced by friends to swim in the masters meets.

"He got involved in the masters' meets and he enjoyed them," Mr. Powlison's wife, Dora, said yesterday. She said he recently started to teach three of his grandchildren to swim. "He was very people-oriented; they loved him," she said.

In an interview with The Advertiser last year, Mr. Powlison expressed his dedication to swimming. "I will try to keep up swimming for the rest of my life."

Services will be held at 5 p.m. Wednesday at Punahou Chapel. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to a scholarship fund set up in his name at Punahou School.

FEAR--ITS IMPORTANCE--AND THE ANSWERS IN MASTERS SWIMMING by George E. Bole

Fearfully, I dare to open this paper with the oft repeated, still very much true cliché, "There's nothing to fear but fear itself." I will elaborate on these words as I proceed.

During my three years as coach to St. Petersburg Masters swimmers, I have garnered a lengthy list of apprehensive approaches towards the various aspects of the programme.

To begin with, prospective members, after much heart-searching, usually come to see me with unnecessarily tentative approaches. Often, ladies with three children in an Age-Group program nearby, bashful to an extreme, confess the fear that "after all these years" they would or might look less than Sylvian in a swimsuit and wonder if I have any reasonable answer or cure that would help to persuade them to overcome the fear. Men, too, express similar "fear"--often patting their waistlines to indicate their self-consciousness.

To such applicants, let me assure them that their "shapes", "forms", "figures",--or whatever--matter not one whit to the others on the team. First, most of their peers have experienced exactly what they are going through, and are more than willing to be supportive of them. They will delight in telling the new-comers how they dealt with the problem. Second, I can assure you that those in my programs will be too busy with the work in hand to spend time studying your "form".

Next, I meet the softly-spoken timid people who are "not very good swimmers" who are afraid that by joining Masters they will be "made to take part" in competition. They just want to improve the strokes and swim laps at the times the program operates.

For these people, and their fears, let me say that the only demand--no!--request, made to new Masters is that they might come along and help at a competition at our pool. We are always short of helpers to time, count, help with hospitality, etc. No one demands actual swimming participation from them. And as to their self-confessed lack of ability, everyone on the team is "not so good". The term is relative. There are some better than others, but in Masters who cares? The coach cares, and it is his job to help you feel better in the water. You will improve as all the others in the pool have improved. Again, your new friends will offer you advice ad nauseum. You need never fear feeling inadequate. The program is constructed so as to help you. If you need special advice, please feel free to ask. I love helping people swim well.

Now, we have those who used to swim in high school, college--but have been out of it so long that they fear they may be so much "out of shape" that they will either "look ridiculous" or hold the program back. Getting in shape is no problem for the person who has had some background in a competitive program of training. Getting in shape in a couple of weeks is quite a different problem! To get back to those high school tiems requires patiently building up your degree of fitness, and this can be done for you. Indeed, several of our members boast of swimming times better than those of their high school days! Dispel that fear as to looking ridiculous, I can assure you that after almost four decades of pounding a pool deck, that swimmers working out are seldom aware of anything other than the clock, the lines on the pool bottom, the backstroke flags and the pool ends. Occasionally they notice the coach! Other people's conditions do not come to their notice. Again, I will delight in coaching you stroke wise.

I almost forgot the swimmers who join "for exercise only" but who would like to do "freestyle" or "butterfly" properly but aren't interested in racing. No coach worth his salt would want anyone competing who doesn't want to race. But this coach, as someone with an aesthetic sense for the art of coordinated propulsion (Sea World) through the water, will want you to swim more easily, more proficiently and more elegantly. So I will endeavor to allay any fears about your ability to swim like the stars, teach you the newest techniques and make you happily more proficient. And then maybe with your new-found skills you might be tempted to try an odd team race or an individual fifty yards event. Besides, with this new proficiency you will be able to exercise more for the same outlay of energy.

The "health Hazard Syndrome" is another problem I confront often. Now let me state from the outset, that I, as a very ordinary guy, sans medical training or knowledge, am loath to say that swimming will improve whatever may be ailing you. I do know that people who swim regularly in my program certainly feel better. I believe that's because swimming is such a great sport and done properly makes people happier. This in turn will have advantageous effects for them physically. But, I feel that anyone with doubts about their physical conditions should consult their doctor before joining the program, and then, in confidence, tell the coach. This way there need be no fear of work-outs causing physical aggravation or complaints. Remember that Masters programs throughout the world are thronged with people who have joined because they have health problems. And they are enjoying the opportunities of taking part. So fear no more--get in the swim!

FOR SPRINTERS - N. Douglas Smith, a sprinter, trained age-group at Arden Hills Swim Club under Sherm Chavoov. Doug never began reaching his potential until in college. He contributes this to technique improvement and extensive weight training. He believes these are the secrets to preparing for Nationals in Sprints. He thinks he loses very little speed by training weights six times a week and only swimming twice a week. He believes sprinters can maintain and even improve their speed with weight training almost excluseively. If you would like his program for HEALTH & NUTRITION - "What Yo' Mama Din' Tell You and You Don't Want to Hear" - SHOTS - This is the end. You mean to tell me that I am supposed to get shots? Yes. We all need them at different times. Your doctor may not tell you, because very few of us take our bodies in for preventive care the way we do our cars. Infectious disease has, for the most part, been cured by the advent of immunization and antibiotics. Some immunization is not lifelong. Some is useful for older or less healthy people. There are six things adults should know. 1. You need a Tetanus-diptheria booster every 10 years. 2. Measles. If you were born before 1956 you are probably OK. If you were vaccinated between 1963-1967 you probably need another. 3. Rubella (German Measles). All unimmunized women of childbearing age need it or laboratory evidence of immunity. 4. Influenza. People over 65, in nursing homes, with cardiac, respiratory or metabolic problems need them. 5. Pneumonia. Same groups, but only once in a lifetime. 6. Hepatitis. Homosexuals, dope-fiends, some hemophiliacs, and people who work in blood labs. Ask your doctor.....

Pool Your Strength for Better Bones

*Swimming can increase your bones' mineral content, even if you start the sport as an adult — and even though it's not a weight-bearing exercise, according to a study published in Ob. Gyn. News (April 15-30, 1987). Researchers compared 58 male swimmers with 78 people who didn't swim and found that the sport boosted bone content significantly. The better-boned swimmers put in an average of 4.6 hours per week for an average of 13 years. From Executive Fitness Newsletter, August, 1987.
