STRENGTH TRAINING FOR THE MASTER SWIMMER

by

Paul Hutinger

The majority of Master swimmers, both men and women, can benefit from a strength training program in terms of physical fitness, muscle tonus and increased performance. Several of the principles and concepts must be considered for scientific application.

The body will adapt to stresses placed on it with an overload greater than average bringing about changes. Strength, once established, is lost more slowly than endurance. A 40 or 50 year old maintains a great percentage of the strength he/she had as a 20 year old. Some pathological conditions, disease, or injuries, may limit the Master swimmer. Joint and tendon problems such as bursitis, tendonitis, tennis elbow or arthritis may be restrictive. However, in most cases, a mild individualized program can be beneficial.

The program should be started even more slowly than the beginning swimming training. Isometrics should be used with great caution by older swimmers because of increased blood pressure during the effort. The valsalva maneuver, making an effort against a closed glottis, can instantaneously elevate the systolic blood pressure to over 200 mmHg. The same holds true for lifting weights or using pulley weights. Those efforts, however, are more easily controlled. In lifting weights, the Master swimmer must always exhale while making the maximum effort in order to avoid the valsalva effect.

The aging body of the Master swimmer needs some special considerations when planning a strength training program. Strength type exercises may adversely affect the musculoskeletal systems of the Master swimmer. Therefore, such exercises must not be done indiscriminately.

Only about 20 pounds of force is needed to pull yourself through the water. Strength development of a high resistance type is of questionable value for the distance swimmer, but it could be useful to the sprinter.

The muscles developed should be specific for the sport and specific to the movement pattern of the stroke. Excess development of particular muscle groups could interfere with range of movement and flexibility. An example of overdevelopment is sometimes seen in the rhomboid group (between the scapula) and the deltoid group (shoulder muscles.)

Out of the water there are three fundamental methods of developing strength. They are isotonic (same force - weights and pulleys), isometric (same length - pulling or pushing against any immovable object), and isokinetic (same speed - use of machines such as the mini-gym and lumex machine). There are advantages and disadvantages for each of the methods. There are several good references for deciding which of these methods to use, as an individual: The Science of Swimming by Dr. James Counsilman and Complete Weight Training Book by Bill Reynolds.

National YMCA Masters Championships

Exclusive for SWIM-MASTER by Les Finnegan

The 2nd Annual National YMCA Masters Championships turned into a record-setting spree in every sense of the word.

At least 140 records were set in the various age-group events; a record number of teams, 48 from all over the country, participated, and a record number of individual swimmers set a new mark.

The three-day meet was held at Montclair State College, Montclair, NJ, June 17-19, with the rash of new records attributable, in part, to the fact that a substantial number of the competitors had come fresh from the 13th National Masters Swimming Championships in Fort Lauderdale.

Defending National Champion Montclair, with 40 swimmers, easily turned back its nearest rivals, Baltimore Central Y and the Nautilus Aquatic Club of Washington, DC Central Y. Montclair's total for the 19 events was 711, which better than doubled Baltimore's 324 and the 317 for Nautilus. Baltimore had 11 swimmers, Nautilus 12.

The brilliant assault on the year-old Y record book started on the first day as five new national Y records were set in the 1650 free. Equally impressive was the number of age group records set in other events. They included: 6 new records in the 50 free; 4 in the 100 free; 6 in the 200 free; 6 in the 500 free; 5 in the 50 back; 5 in the 100 back; 7 in the 200 back; 7 in the 50 breast; 7 in the 100 breast; 8 in the 200 breast; and similar numbers of new records in the other events.

The record-setting and the record number of participants provided vigorous evidence that the YMCA Masters Nationals are becoming an institution that is probably here to stay on the Masters scene. The Washington, DC, Y which will have a new building and a fast modern pool by the start of 1978 is bidding for next years National Y Masters Championships.

Coaches and participants in both the 1976 and 1977 meets agreed that training preparations for the Montclair championships were much more serious and intensive than for the previous year. For example, the 15-year-old Nautilus Aquatic Club, the country's oldest competitive masters group, for the first time in its history found its members working out twice a day in preparation for Montclair. It paid off: the NAC swam off with 11 national records, 8 in individual events and 3 in relays.

Defending champion Montclair was a powerhouse in all events and entered a strong and versatile contingent of women swimmers, 17 out of their 40 total. More than half the Baltimore team was from the distaff side; Nautilus had only one woman. The average age of this year's participants was believed somewhat older than for 1976.

Many of the 140 new national records were highly impressive times and while not, on the whole, as speedy as the National Masters at Lauderdale, still offered the promise of a definite future challenge. Part of the reason for this, as already noted, is that some of the most outstanding National Masters Championship swimmers are now starting to come to the National YMCA Masters competition.

Rose Blossoms At 70 To Win Swim Awards

By JODY HOMER
Sun-Tattler Staff

Rose Caplane's thin, wiry legs hoisted her aging 93-pound frame off the edge of the diving board and into the air at Ft. Lauderdale's Hall of Fame Swimming Pool.

As she climbed out of the water after executing her dive, a young man shyly rambled up to her and said, "I hope you don't mind, but I have to ask you this. How old are you?"

"I get asked that question at least seven or eight times a day when I come to the pool," said Rose who turns 71 in September. "Some people even want to take my picture," she added with a laugh. "It doesn't make any difference to me, so I let them."

NO ONE has informed Rose Caplane that 70-year-old women are not supposed to dive off high boards, do hand stands in their living rooms or break national swimming records.

On May 14, this Hollywood resident competed in five individual events and three relays in the National AAU Masters Swimming Championship in Ft. Lauderdale. She took home six first place ribbons and two second place ribbons, breaking records in her age group for the 100 and 200-yard breaststroke and the 100-yard backstroke.

The Masters swimming program had its start in San Diego in the early 1960's. Events are conducted in compliance with AAU rules and broken down according to sex and age, divided into five-year segments.

"I usually win all five events I enter," said Rose, a Masters competitor since 1974, "and I would have won all five this time except my foot slipped on the turn in the 100-freestyle. I pushed off against the light and slipped."

MRS. CAPLANE took a boat from her home in Bavaria, Germany to New York City in 1927. Her first job, naturally enough, was at a swimming pool.

"In Germany I swam long distance races through the rivers and canals," she said. "Children in my town were taught to swim in a pool next to the river. But the competitions were held in the canals."

While doing odd jobs at a New York private pool, Rose met a comedian and joined his act.

"I was a sort of gymnast," she said. "I'd taken ballet lessons, gymnastics, fiddle and piano lessons. He would throw me around in the act. A type of comedy adagio. I had to do somersaults, flips, things like that."

AFTER TWO husbands, both of whom have passed away, and more than 20 years in show business as a vaudevillian, dancer and even part-time song writer, this five-foot dynamo moved to Florida.

Rose competes in Masters swimming meets several times a year and has walls covered with first place ribbons. In 1974 she received All-American status and was named one of the 10 best swimmers in the country in her age group.

"I think I would be a cripple if I didn't swim," said Mrs. Caplane, who has lived alone since her second husband died in 1971. "I'm alone now and I don't like to sit around playing bridge. I do ballroom dancing sometimes and I still put a sheet on the living room floor and exercise every day."

Rose swims at the Hall of Fame Pool several times a week. Most days she goes 1,000 meters. That's 20 laps without stopping.

ROSE DRIVES herself to the Ft. Lauderdale pool and catches rides with fellow masters competitors in other parts of Florida. Her one gripe with the city of Hollywood is that there is no pool here.

"When I first moved here in 1965," she said, "I swam at the pool on Johnson Street by the beach. Now that they've taken that down just to put up some palm trees, there is no place close-by to swim. I know so many elderly people who would love to use a pool but they have no way of getting to Ft. Lauderdale."

Rose swims every stroke except butterfly and considers the breaststroke her strongest. Her time in this month's national meet for the 200-breaststroke was 5.07.27.

Of the 602 swimmers at the national masters meet, ("I had to fight for a parking place," Rose said.) the eldest was an 83-year-old woman. Mrs. Caplane had 4-6 swimmers in her age group competing against her in each event.

"I really wanted to win that day," she said, "because there were two women who came all the way from California. They have all the advantages there. I guess I wanted to show them up."

Rose Caplane is a healthy, vibrant woman. She doesn't drink, not even coffee, and gets plenty of exercise. After a swimming meet is over, instead of taking a nap or konking out in front of the television, Rose says she eats. And eats.

"After the championship I ate five meals the next day," she said. "I just couldn't seem to get enough."

"I Think I Would Be A Cripple If I Didn't Swim"

On Wednesday, July 13th, Fort Lauderdale's Stella Taylor took one of her final practice swims at the Swimming Hall of Fame prior to leaving for England where she will attempt to be the first woman to swim the English Channel round-trip, non-stop. Stella, 45, who has been swimming only for the past 7 years, is a former nun but has already made an international name for herself as a marathon swimmer. Her most recent achievement was to conquer Lake George in upstate New York, setting a record for the 45-mile route in 26 hours and 51 minutes, beating the old record set by an ex-marine, by nearly 4 hours.

MASTERS SWIMMING NOTES

1977 LONG COURSE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS - Events 9-10 HAVE BEEN CANCELLED! Do not enter the extra I.M. Only the 200 I.M. is to be swum in the Long Course National Championships. The printer thought he was correcting an error by Jack Zappone and took it upon himself to include the 100 I.M. as an event. It has caused Jack Zappone lots of problems and so we hope that all of you entering the meet will eliminate that event (9-10) on your entry blank. Jack reports that he has sent out 900 entry forms and so it looks like we will have a good size meet. We will have an Open Rules Meeting on Friday, August 26th.....

THE FIRST - Frank Coughlan decided to test the waters on both the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts this past Memorial Day with a plunge into the New York Harbor in the morning followed up with a dip in the San Francisco Bay that afternoon. Asked why he undertook the double effort, Coughlan said simply, "I wanted to be the first.".....

MASTERS SWIMMERS DON'T GROW OLD, THEY JUST RUST AWAY.....

EDITORIAL COMMENT: Oregon AAU Masters Aqua-Master - I have, unfortunately, become more aware in recent meets of the tendency for some of our members to put down in various ways the slower swimmers among us. I would like to dwell for a minute on the purposes of Masters Swimming and reaffirm them in all our minds. If I may quote from the National Masters brochure -- "The Masters Swimming Program is designed as a fun and physical fitness program..." "Just as important as swimming against others is the competition of swimming against yourself". Let us not forget that the person slower than ourselves may be working much harder and getting more out of it. Be generous with your praise for others efforts and remember the real reason we're swimming --- and that is to feel good and have fun.....

GOOD SPORTS AWARD - A gold medal to Debbie Birkner of Batavia who jumped in and swam 50 yards butterfly in a relay team at the State Championships although eight months pregnant!!! Debbie plans to compete regularly after the baby is born three weeks hence. Husband Jim expects to survive the coming event and swim with us too.....

Edith Rubo, 70, of Batavia swam in her first meet in Naperville and won a State Championship in the 1650. She also placed second in the 500. Now she thinks she'll try some of the shorter events.....

SWIMMING IS #1 - Anywhere you look nowadays, someone is writing about the 'Fitness Boom'. National magazines, talk shows, the newspapers, everyone is concerned about fitness. This is nothing new to Masters Swimming, of course. We have been leading the pack for years. One of the most interesting facts that keeps reappearing in every article about fitness shows that swimming is one of the best exercises for the body. Again, this is nothing new, and every time I hear of a runner's stress fracture or shin splints, I feel again that SWIMMING IS #1!.....

MAUI CHANNEL SWIM - The race starts on Saturday, Sep. 3rd, at 8:30 a.m. As of July 6th, there are 10 entries for the Sixth Annual Maui Channel Swim: Los Angeles S, Los Angeles Strokers, San Franciscans, Toronto, Tattersalls (Australia), Outrigger, Makawao, Waikiki AA, Waikiki A, and Waikiki Wahines.....

NEWS RELEASE - The Pacific Association, AAU Masters Short Course Swimming Championships held at Davis, CA June 3-5, 1977 attracted a large and record-shattering group of Masters swimmers. Participants included 325 entrants, 27 teams, and several unattached swimmers. Eleven National and 63 Pacific Association records were bettered. Outstanding individual performances were recorded by a number of swimmers including: Fred Lappe, 72, Tamalpais Masters (3 N.R. and 5 P.A. records); Jean Durston, 62, Concord Masters (3 P.A.R.); Marianne Brems, 28, San Mateo Marlins (3 N.R. and P.A.R.); Mike Macklin, 40, Woodland Masters (3 P.A.R.). In addition, 81-year-old William Boodt of the Gold Country Masters provided inspiration by completing the 50-yard freestyle in 1:28.70 for a P.A.R. First place team was the Davis Aquatic Masters coached by Dave Scott with a point total of 1503; the second and third place teams were the San Mateo Marlins and the Tamalpais Masters with 894 and 432 points, respectively.....

THE FIRST ANNUAL HAWAIIAN POSTAL RELAY MEET - It's a little late but I hope that lots of you entered this relay meet. The Hawaiian Humuhumunukunukuapua'a challenge the world, or more appropriately, the seas, to a variety of relay events. They contend that schools of Humus are faster than San Mateo Mussels, South Texas Tunicates, Rocky Mountain Oysters, D.C. Diatoms, Gold Coast Gastropods, Michigan Mollusks, Coronado Crinoids, Arizona Algae, Long Beach Bryozoans, L.A. Amphipods, Rinconada Radiolarians, and New England Nudibranchs, as well as the other near-sessile critters in Masters swimming. The results of this challenge should be interesting.....

MASTERS SWIM ATTRACTS ADULTS OF ALL AGES - This news release was prepared by William P. Markert, Director of Communications for the National Swimming Pool Institute.

The NSPI has helped publicize the Masters Swim Program with their contacts with newspapers throughout the country. Swimming is listed as one of America's most popular outdoor recreation activities, but the Masters program is now making it acceptable to exercise in the pool as well. The NSPI reports that concern for individual health may also be a factor in the growth in popularity of residential pools. There are now well over a million of them and an increasingly popular feature is a regular swimming lane to encourage children's swim team development as well as parents' conditioning programs.....

Masters Competition. It was brought to the Bureau's attention that some international competitions were planned in Masters competition. The new FINA Rule GR11 governs Masters swimming and authorizes competitors, with a minimum age of 25 years, to include amateurs who are no longer engaged in competition and professionals. However, this rule specifically prohibits international competitions.

The Bureau did clarify that it would still be possible to hold international competitions for competitors 25 years of age and older but such competitions would have to be restricted to competitors who meet the general amateur definition. GR11 was adopted at the last Congress in order to insure that those officials and administrators who compete in domestic Masters competition would not forfeit their amateur status, and therefore cease to be qualified to act as officials and administrators in FINA Federations or at FINA controlled competitions such as the Olympics and World Championships. GR11 accomplishes this.

However, the exclusion of international competitions was one of the conditions to adoption insisted upon by those who did not favor allowing professionals in this category. This will undoubtedly create some difficulties for the promoters of Masters competitions and it would be anticipated that additional legislation will be proposed in this regard.
